

CACTUS CLUB COAL HARBOUR

Synonymous with sophistication, style and West Coast fine dining, Cactus Club opened their 23rd location, in Vancouver's Coal Harbour, in 2013.

This prime location allows visitors to drink and dine with sweeping vistas of the Burrard Inlet and the North Shore mountains that rise beyond. A wrap-around patio offers alternate views of the Coal Harbour waterfront and the Olympic Cauldron.

Eos Lightmedia was invited to design the lighting for the new restaurant. Our task was to ensure lighting remained on-brand throughout the day and night, while controlling any reflection in the floor to ceiling windows that might compromise the million-dollar view.

Eos carefully selected the fixtures and programmed a sophisticated lighting control system to create optimal lighting for all occasions, ensuring that guests would always be treated to the premium view. This breathtaking location captures the innovation and sophistication for which Cactus Club is known, consistently elevating the fine dining experience while respecting the surrounding visual environment.

DETAILS

Location: Vancouver, BC
Size: 25,650 square feet + patio
Completion: March, 2013

CREDITS

Client: Cactus Restaurants Ltd.
Architect & Interior Design: Acton Ostry Architects
Lighting Design: Eos Lightmedia